

Pardonable in an American.
Mayor Low related the other day an unpublished incident of the visit of Prince Henry. His Royal Highness was speaking of the acquirement of Manhattan by the Dutch. "Is it really true," he asked, "that they acquired a legal title by paying the Indians for the island?" "Oh, yes," replied the mayor; "they paid twenty-five dollars." "I thought it was twenty-four dollars," said the Prince. "One dollar is a small exaggeration for an American," remarked the mayor. —New York Press.

New York, June 8.—New Jersey residents on the road between Jersey City and Morristown have been inquiring for several days as to the occupants of a big red automobile which has twice a day dashed by with a chauffeur and an elderly woman dressed in a black poke bonnet and modest gown. A reporter identified the occupants as Mrs. Hetty Green and her son, President Edward H. R. Green of the Texas Midland railroad. Mrs. Green declared herself infatuated with her new diversion.

Practice will be confined to enough rowing to keep the men in form and condition. The next hard work will be at Poughkeepsie.

Lessons will engross much of the time of the rowers, as this is examination week, and it is not proposed to have the boat crew experience the state of the baseball team in having some of its best men laid out by the faculty on account of remissness in studies.

GRADUATION IS NOW THE TOPIC

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES ARE FULLY ARRANGED FOR.

THE PROGRAM AS PREPARED

Boys Outnumber the Girls in This Year's Class—Many Graduate.

Four evenings of this week and one of next are set apart to the sweet girl graduate and her masculine compeer, who this year enjoys the novel distinction of being in pre-eminence numerically. If not otherwise, three of these evenings embrace the commencement exercises of the class of 1903 of the Janesville high school; one is given up to the banquet at which the graduate first takes rank as an alumnus or alumna; one is devoted to the annual senior hop.

Tomorrow evening, Tuesday June 9, will be given up to the class exercises—speeches of welcome, farewell, reminiscence, perhaps a little sentiment, and a foretaste of the future. What time remains will be occupied by these. The program follows:

Class Plays Given
Drama will reign ascendant on the next evening. Under the training of Mrs. Day three one-act plays have been mastered by members of the graduating class. By this innovation a larger number of the young people who feel within themselves the inspiration of the Thespian muse are enabled to walk the boards, while no one person is given a disproportionate burden to bear. "Journey's End in Lover's Meeting" is the first of the three, and will serve as a curtain raiser. Only three characters appear in this skit. The ever-popular "Bicyclers" and the closing play is "Cape Mail." The last two each serves to bring six characters into prominence. The program for the evening is given herewith:

- Wednesday Evening
Music... High School Orchestra

The Alumni Banquet
Active efforts have been put forth by the committee in charge of the alumni banquet, and an interesting program has been constructed. Following the banquet, which will be held in the high school auditorium, as will the preceding commencement exercises, will come a list of toasts and musical numbers.

In honor of the tenth anniversary of their graduation the class of ninety-three is planning an informal reunion on this occasion.
Central hall will be the scene on the following Tuesday of the closing function connected with the commencement formalities and festivities. The senior party will be given on that evening, and the young men of the class have been laboring for weeks past to make it notable in every respect. Elaborate decorative schemes have been devised.

LAW DECISIONS FOR LAYMEN

Recent Court Rulings That Will Interest the Busy Reader Very Much.

Notes—What Law Governs.
A note dated in Wisconsin, but actually executed, negotiated, and made payable in Indiana, is governed by the Indiana law as to days of grace and the manner of giving notice of dishonor to indorsers, while the Wisconsin will control as to the time and sufficiency of evidence necessary to prove such notice. In the absence of evidence, the presumption is that the law of Indiana as to what notice of dishonor is necessary to charge indorsers is the same as that in Wisconsin. 94 Northwestern Rep. (Wis., Judge Winslow) 664.

Intoxicating Liquors—Blind Pig.
A statute prohibiting and punishing the keeping of blind pigs or places for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, is not unconstitutional as special and class legislation, nor as authorizing unreasonable searches and seizures. The intoxicating liquors and appliances usually used in the sale thereof, which were found on defendant's premises and seized by virtue of a search warrant, were competent evidence on the trial of the defendant on the charge of keeping a blind pig. Northwestern Rep. (Minn., Judge Start.) 675.

Evidence—Telegrams—Authenticity.
A telegram is not admissible in evidence where there was no evidence to prove that it came from the telegraph office or who wrote it or signed it, or where, when, or from it came, except as appeared on the paper itself. 94 Northwestern Rep. (South Dakota, Judge Corson) 694.

Marriage—Civil Contract—Validity.
In an action to annul a marriage the evidence showed that the consent of plaintiff was obtained by fraudulent representations that plaintiff was the father of defendant's child, and that, but for such representation and fraud, he would not have entered into the marriage. Held, that such representations were of a material nature, and under a statute providing that a marriage may be annulled when the action of one consent of one party is obtained by fraud, the court may annul the marriage, where it appears that the plaintiff has not, with full knowledge of fraud voluntarily lived with the defendant before the action was brought. 67 Northeastern Rep. (New York, Judge Gray) 63.

Mutual Benefit Associations—Sulcicide of Members.
Where a person insured in a mutual benefit insurance company stipulates that, if he dies by any illegal act of his own, all his interest in the beneficiary fund shall revert to the association, and he commits suicide, it is an illegal act, within the language of the contract, rendering the certificate void. 67 Northeastern Rep. (New York, Judge Werner) 83.

Corporations—Citizenship.
The supreme court of the United States held, in the recent case of the Southern Railway Co. vs. Allison, that the railway company had not obtained citizenship in the state of North Carolina by filing its charter in that state when it had been incorporated in the state of Virginia, the court holding that citizenship was confined to the state in which the charter was granted.

TOBACCO WORK ABOUT ENDED

TRANSPLANTING OF THIS YEAR'S CROP NEXT.

SOME GENERAL TOBACCO TALK

Prices Are Becoming Better, and the Outlook Seems Good at Present.

If any of the tobacco warehouse men are doing any business, they refuse to admit it. Activity is near low ebb and there are few if any sales. All attention is turned to the condition of the new crop. The outlook in this state is said to be considerably more hopeful than in other sections.

Already preparations are being made to fit the fields for another crop. In most places the indications are that the plant beds will have an abundance of plants. The weather has in general been dry enough to allow the farmers to get their farm work out of the way, so that when a favorable season sets in they can give their entire attention to the planting of tobacco. Old leaf is selling slowly and the trade lacks much of giving satisfaction. The finish of the packing season is near, and when a few more houses have completed handling the crop the vacation season will be on.

New England.
The following crop and sale reports from domestic cigar leaf, producing districts are taken from the United States Tobacco Journal: Transplanting is in progress in New England. The soil is very dry, in consequence of which the growth of the young plants is retarded. No rain has fallen in some sections in six weeks. The young plants on account of the unfavorable weather, have not developed regularly. Where they were raised under glass they are forward and healthy, but under other conditions the general opinion among the growers is that the larger plants are better rooted and more likely to live than the smaller, as there is more substance to them, even though some of the leaves drop off, and consequently where the plants are smaller the transplanting is backward.

Some of the growers still hold their 1902 tobacco on account of the unsatisfactory price. Occasionally sales are being made of such crops as have been assorted and, force asserted, at prices better than the speculators are willing to pay.

New York.
The hot weather that prevailed in this state for two weeks prior to May 25 has had a distinctly unfavorable effect upon the tobacco crop. The growers of this section generally favor early planting, but weather conditions have this year rendered such a proceeding practically impossible. The fields are not in suitable condition, and in many places, the plants have not reached sufficient size. Damage from snails is also reported by some correspondents. The transplanting that has been accomplished is sporadic and unevenly distributed through the state.

But little buying is done at present the growers holding for better prices. Consul Chester Donaldson, at Managua, in a report to the State Department of recent date, says that tobacco is produced on a small scale in nearly all parts of Nicaragua, and more especially in Masaya, Chontales, and on the volcano island of Impetepe. Tobacco crops are monopolized by the government, and yield an annual revenue of about $40,000 gold.

An armistice seems to have been declared in the cut-rate war in cigars. As reported the Havana Tobacco Co., has announced that it will sell the produce of its factories in Havana at one price to all, whether they are closely affiliated with it or not. And the cut-rate war on the domestic cigars seems to be abating too. Only the coupon system is being maintained in full force. But this system is now being met in competition by the independents too. The spell of peace should be a welcome relief for the approaching dog days.

New York.
In New York the seems to have been impregnated with a holiday air. New York gave itself up to the celebration of its 250 anniversary, and the two holidays at the tail end of the week were on the one hand, no allurements for out-of-town buyers to come to the city, and on the other, an inducement to the city people to depart for the country. Only an ordinary routine business, therefore, which does not call for any special comment, was done in the few working days of the week.

According to the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter there is little doing in Edgerton markets. To all appearances a long-period of summer quietude is in store. Some goods still remain in first hands but the amount is much smaller than usual at this date and dealers and little encouragement in an attempt to lift them.

Better weather is prevailing and the growers are given an opportunity to prepare the fields for the new crop. Transplanting has been commenced in a limited way and there is an abundance of plants ready for the field just as soon as the growers can catch up with their work. The coming week will see the planting under full swing if the weather does not occasion further delay.

The shipments out of storage have declined to about 3000 for the week from this market to all points.

In Connecticut.
From time to time sales are made at advancing rates in Connecticut. The leaf men are well pleased with this improvement. The prices that it sold for were an advance over that sold two weeks before, when Thaddeus Graves sold 90 cases at 16c. This is very encouraging. The late sales were of 93 cases owned by more than one man, and they sold too quickly.

As improved prices must prevail. The output of cigars increases, while the stock in the market of suitable leaf is growing slimmer every day, and the call for cigar leaf is constant. Fully one-third of the 1902 crop is sold now, when in former years not a case had yet commenced to go into the natural leaf.

An Animal Story For Little Folks The Featherless Ostrich

There was a great crowd of circus men who went to animal land to catch the rarest animals that they could find for their circuses. And when the ostriches heard of this they were all very much alarmed.

But what were they to do? None of them knew except George Henry Ostrich, who was a rather smart fellow and thought that he had an idea that would prevent the circus men from paying any attention to him.

So on the day that the men were expected to arrive George Henry came around to where the other ostriches were and did not have a feather on his whole body!

"What on earth is the matter?" asked his brother. "What have you done to yourself?"

"Can't you see?" asked George Henry, smiling. "I've plucked all of my feathers out, and now the circus men will not want me because they will think that I am not an ostrich. They will let me stay here and take you away with them."

HE DID NOT HAVE A FEATHER ON HIS WHOLE BODY.

"I believe I'd rather be taken away," replied his brother.

And just then the men came in sight. "Hurrah!" they cried. "Here is the greatest creature that we ever saw. He is a featherless ostrich. He will be the best thing in the whole circus. We will just take him along and will not need any of these other fellows."

So off they went with the featherless ostrich and left all the others at peace.

Moral.—It is hard to fool the circus man.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

INTEREST AND CHARM

LANDSCAPE, BUILDINGS AND PEOPLE OF ROME.

Never-Ending Delight of Stroll in the Eternal City—Most Peculiar Construction of the Monte Festuccio—Some Pathetic Ruins.

(Special Correspondence.)

In Rome it was formerly the custom that the strangers and visitors, when the lenten ceremonies were over and Easter Sunday had come, set out upon their journeyings to other scenes. Now that is changing, and these people still remain, and are to be met with in the Campagna, wandering in the little hill cities, or studying the quaint customs and the showy costumes of the people in other more distant sites.

It is scarcely possible to issue from any one of the gates of the city, which are themselves most picturesque remnants of hoary antiquity, ere scenes of interest and quaint charm meet the eye. It is not only the landscape, fascinating as it is in lines and varied colors, when seen through the arch of the gate framing it as in a picture, that attracts; the people seem to prepare the scene with all the picturesque belongings and surroundings characteristic of the country.

At Porta Maggiore, for instance—a gate made under three aqueducts of ancient date—the huge walls of Roman workmanship that have witnessed so many incidents in the long life of Rome, now form a background to the artistic and natural grouping of the gray-colored wide-horned oxen of the Roman Campagna, as they rest from their work.

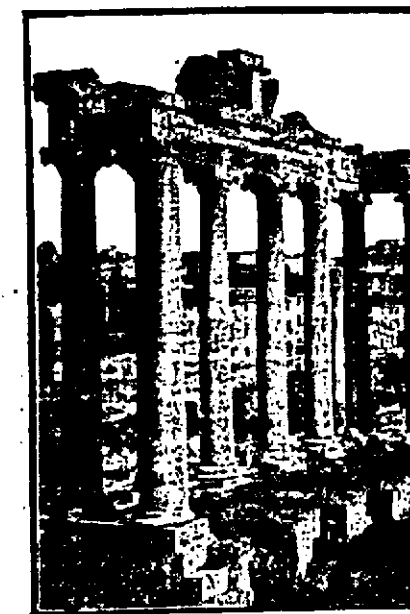

There is scarcely a hill to be met with, except such a slight elevation as that of Monte Festuccio, near the gate of St. Paul's, which is purely artificial, and is one of the most remarkable curiosities of this ancient city.

This hill, as an American poet said of it, is formed "of vases, urns and jars, the shattered relics of a far-off time." For the historian it is one of the numerous problems which the study of Roman antiquities presents. As Ampere notes, people cannot stop to discuss seriously the tradition which reports it as constituted by the fragments of the vases containing the tribute which the nations subdued presented to their conqueror, Rome. A more probable and better founded origin for it has been discovered in late years by the excavation of the grain stores and other receptacles in the immediate neighborhood. The broken vases were piled up here into a hill. Enrico Dressel has studied the signatures of the persons who exported the grain and oil and wine, which signatures were impressed on the vases near the handles, and has reconstructed the story of this "Monte."

This hill is 160 feet in height, and is close upon a mile in circumference. If you ascend to the wooden cross which stands as a sacred sign upon its summit, your steps will be amid broken pottery. The whole hill, and the plain for a considerable distance around it, and the soil far beneath the present level, are all formed of broken vases.

The building against the side of the hills is the residence of wine makers, and into the sides of this strangely formed elevation wine cellars open, where the wines of Roman princes and nobles were kept cool and fresh. Here one may dream of the past and consider curiously who held the vases and who drank the wine that these broken shards once held.

The plow that you see in use to-day in the Roman Campagna seems to have undergone no change since the eyes of the great poet rested upon its ever-splendid nineteenth century ago. It fits the description he has given of it; and there is no reason to doubt that its immutability will continue when many of the newer discoveries now in vogue will have passed into oblivion.

There is scarcely any other amusement or occupation that attracts so many observers as a horse race; and the visitor to Rome who takes advantage of the occasion to witness these races is likely to forget the scene it presents. That a King and a Queen are among the spectators adds immensely to its attraction.

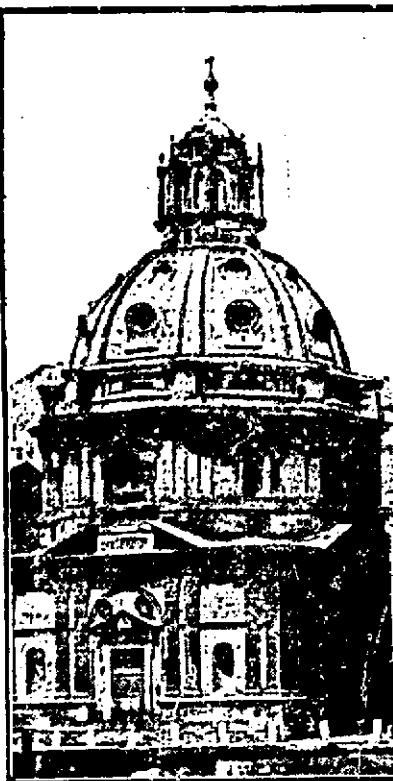

Formerly sovereigns were spectators of the shows prepared for them; now the people are the spectators, and royalty becomes a part of the spectacle which the people go to see. A few days ago it was well known that King Victor Emmanuel III. and Queen Helena would be present at the races, as on that day the Royal Derby was run, and hence crowds pressed out along the new Appian Way to the racecourse near the Capannelle on the left of the road.

The route, apart from all other considerations, is one of the most interesting of the many interesting roads around Rome. Passing out by the Lateran Gate, with the wall beside it showing still the white patches where repairs were made of the damage done by the shells of the Italian army in besieging the city in 1870, you leave to the right the Porta Asinaria between the two round towers.

Here the gate is walled up; its memories are not flattering to the national pride. Here Belisarius entered Rome; and some years after, Totila, by the treachery of the Isaurian Guard. It was through the Porta Asinaria that in 1584 Henry IV entered Rome against Pope Sixtus V. Between it and the other gate, above the walls may be seen the statues that crown the facade of the cathedral of Rome, St. John Lateran, which for miles out on this road is the sign and symbol of the city to him who turns his eyes Romeward.

The beauty and interest of the road increase the farther you go beyond the walls. Here on the right the great ridge of the ancient Appian Way cuts sharp and dark against the horizon, and the shapeless ruins of its once grandiose monuments mark the route it follows.

Against the sky, the round, 19-century-old "round tower of other days"—the tomb of Cecilia Metella—looms up in all its golden glory. Here in the middle distance is the sacred grove of Ilex trees, the successor of a pagan sacred grove, changed in little or nothing save its surroundings since the smoke of sacrifice mingled with the air around it. Near to it is the old Church of St. Urbano, which some declare to have been originally a temple dedicated to Bacchus, that has only been saved from destruction by being converted to Christian uses. The church itself, apart from its origin, has a wonderful interest on account of the very early frescoes with which it is adorned.

On the left a tall tower rises in the line of the aqueduct of Pope Sixtus V., and indicates a site which is historical. And then the road dips, and on the right two tall umbrella pines raise their gloomy heads into the sky; and on the other side of the road the ruins of the Claudian aqueduct—great huge arches, on which the water of the hills around was brought in triumph to Rome—rise against the sky, the noblest and the most pathetic of the ruins that abound in the Campagna. And as the traveler advances the peacefulness and sadness of the scene is borne in upon him. The place is filled with recollections; every step is accompanied by a name illustrious in history or luminous in legend.

Then He Said.

A man was driving home one dark night, when, the way seeming long, he became uncertain whether or not he was on the right road.

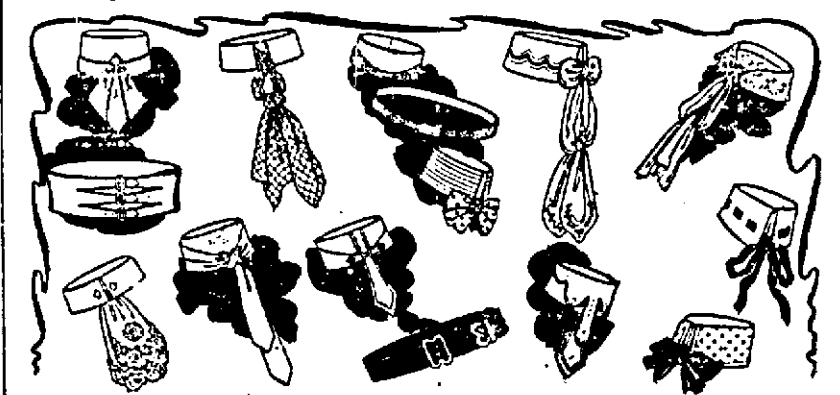

He stopped his horse at a cross-road, clambered out of the dogcart, crawled up on a fence, and struck a match to read the signboard, which he could dimly see outlined.

At the peril of his neck he deciphered the sign, and nearly toppled off the fence when he saw these words: "When in doubt use Glim's Lubricating Oil."

The savings bank deposits of Great Britain are less by $200,000,000 than the amount deposited in the savings banks of New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut combined.

Pretty Neckwear for Tailor-Made Gowns

THE soul of the most fastidious devotee to chic tailor-made severity in dress may be more than satisfied this season. She hails with delight the return of the high linen collars. Nothing to her mind has ever taken their place, and women who hold opposite views, though they look askance at the rows of linen collars that have so suddenly filled across the counters, admit grudgingly that the uncomfortable things are smart.

A mingling of delicate and austere effects shows in the new high turnover linen collars which are ornamented with embroidered or woven-in dots in white or color and a single or double row of hemstitching about the edge. Other linen turnover collars come in uncompromising plainness. Some of the models have a perpendicular buttonhole near the edge of each flap in front. Through these buttonholes a link clasp is slipped.

Low rolling Byron collars are popular for sporting costumes, as they permit perfect freedom of the throat and at the same time have a neat, trim appearance.

A linen collar which has attained popularity in Paris is a stiff clerical band, fastening with two studs at the back. The scarf is tied about the base of the collar.

The tie which is, as a rule, worn with the stiff linen collar is the long scarf of soft silk crepe or the new linen gauze. Individuality is the cry of the season. The stiff linen collar itself is rather against it, but the soft scarf without detracting an iota of femininity still admits originality in knot or bow. A woman may tie her scarf as she pleases provided only the general effect is chic.

Long scarfs are the prevailing neckties. There are, indeed, comparatively few stiff mannish ties to wear with linen collars. Even ascots are softly crossed or the ends merely looped over each other. The Windsor tie, with its loose free bow or sailor knot, is a favorite.

Ribbon is much used for neck scarfs. The lustrous, taffeta, liberty and surah varieties lend themselves admirably to the purpose. It is not only the texture that recommends them, but also the becoming colors and sheen.

Odds and Ends of Summer Fashions

SO RAPIDLY do the fashions grow and bud and blossom at this season of the year that one can scarcely do more than take passing note of individual cases, or of the dainty little auxiliaries, or the general trend. For one whose duty it is to keep the feminine mind informed of what to and what not to wear this season offers many trials that have been foreseen, but not encompassed. So it is that for this time my readers must needs be satisfied with chaff and chatter, with a promise of something more substantial in the future if it can be found. But, after all, is it not the little points that make the gown, the dainty trimmings that make the attractiveness? I doubt if I can do better than paragraph a few of the things through with a strand of silver or gold, the latter lending at once a certain brightness and flash to an otherwise too sombre costume.

Many of the new fabrics show lace effects. For instance, we have colored grass lawns fine as chiffon. Lace striped silks in new designs show in-laid bands of chine or flowered silk. Other materials appear to be composed of one strip of ribbon and one of lace, and fine silk foulards have printed lace stripes. Green muslins are a novelty. The "Liberty" muslins fine as "fisse," old-world "mull" muslin, clear Swiss, hand-embroidered and even muslins, and dainty colored batiste are in every shade and variety. Hail-spot silk, and embroidered muslins in blue, pink, green and yellow are popular. Old laces attain fabulous prices and are being eagerly sought after by connoisseurs. The more transparent a dress can be made, the more fashionable it will be.

An now let us turn to a few individual gowns. One which I saw the other day, was intended for afternoon wear at home, and is here illustrated. It told me a most enchanting tale in rose velveteen, both skirt and corsage stitched with wavy strappings of rose tulle. About the waist was disposed a deep folded belt of rose ribbon, a knotted cravat of the latter falling from a small collar and chemise of dandyked lace threaded with beige ribbon velvet.

Yet another model that rested its chief success on the finest quilting was

AN AFTERNOON AT HOME GOWN

I have seen and liked, and which show the trend of fashion.

For instance, there is quite a craze for bordered materials, sometimes it is a flowered band, or a simple branch of roses runs across the selvage. Blurred designs and cachemire patterns are most fashionable, after which, we can mention quite a new series of glaze alpaca, mohair and canvas in the new supple make, which is required this season to meet our clinging style of dress.

Trimmings are inset with mother-of-pearl, scales gold, platinum, or steel. Greek free insertion and Russian embroideries are very smart, and much used on white silk or cloth costumes. Hanging ornaments, fringe, and frothing appear on the three-quarter coats, many of which are of black cloth or black silk. Buttons, too, are a prominent feature on skirts and bodices.

Black Chantilly lace is very fashionable, and some lovely imitation is being sold in the guise of capes, rounded or pointed, empire scarves, and insertion of the wavy or square pattern. Detached diamond-shaped pieces of lace are much used as transparent trimmings of skirt or bodice.

Paris is preaching with characteristic enthusiasm the persuasions of a certain blue tone. But in regard to this I am disposed to think one must own a certain pronounced clearness of skin to carry it off to its best success. I met the fancy, however, the other day, posing successfully as a contrast to navy blue, in the guise of a much gauged tulle toque, en-tout-cas, and petticoat, and my instant verdict of the tout ensemble was "admirable." For the little someone that means so much in these days, champagne and that delicate French Gray are alike in hourly request for facings, pipings and strappings. In cloth and applied to gowns of a like genre these delicate contrasts are frequently overlaid by close lines of narrow braids, worked a scheme of palest green mousseline de sole, the long lines of the skirt broken at intervals by deep horizontal folds of soft shaded green ribbon. A fascinating little bodice, all drooping and limp, carrying a collar of the finest cream lace, this and the deep cuffs to the sleeves decked with chrysoprane and silver buttons, the whole in harmony of green as seductive in its way as the rose.

The other illustration shows a linen frock in all its latest seductions of embroidery and drawn thread work. For choice, a white linen, the graduated folds on the skirt set on with drawn linen or "fagot" stitch. The congregated mass of decoration on the blouse is a noteworthy feature of the hour, and the lines of the embroidery can either be worked on the actual bodice material itself or applied in the form of bands. The unadorned yoke emphasizes splendidly the now decreed lengthened shoulder line, while a neat collar-band of drawn linen work completes a really sweet frock.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Janesville. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness, you cannot ask for better proof than such a conclusive evidence.

Mr. Samuel Griffin of 203 Locust St. journeyman carpenter says: "I had a severe attack of la grippe and as a result weakness of the kidneys set in. The secretions from those organs were greatly disordered, annoyed me much at night and I seemed to have limited control of them. After finishing the treatment my kidneys could sleep all night without being disturbed. I am better now than I have been for years and give all credit to Doan's Kidney Pills for bringing about the result."

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Generally fair tonight; Tuesday cooler.

HOME ENTERPRISE

A city is always at its best when it consults its own interests, and encourages home enterprises. While it is commendable to offer inducements to outside industries it is more commendable to protect home interests. The common council is called upon tonight to decide the question of granting a franchise to one of two competing companies.

The Southern Wisconsin Interurban company is composed of Janesville men, who are noted for enterprise and public spirit. They have invested money freely for the permanent improvement of the city, and are identified with every movement that has contributed to the city's growth.

The Interurban line to Madison contemplates the expenditure of a million dollars. If the Janesville company secures the franchise, it means that the offices of the company will be located here, and that money for the construction and maintenance of the road will be paid out from here.

It means, in short, a home industry, developed without a bonus and under provisions dictated by the city. The headquarters of an Interurban line ought to be worth something to any city. A terminal station is always more desirable than a way station. These conditions will doubtless be considered by the council in making their decision.

The Gazette has no interest in either company, and the paper has the most kindly regard for the promoters of the Janesville Traction company. But the paper has an interest in the city, and is disposed to encourage in every practical way its growth and development.

The city, through its officers, is about to decide a question which has more to do with the future than the present. The question has been before the people for the past three months and is thoroughly digested. The Janesville company was the first in the field, and but for competition the franchise would doubtless have been granted and work commenced ere this.

The council has nothing new to consider, and while the decision necessarily means disappointment to one company, it means more to the city. The people want the road to Madison and they will appreciate the fact that Janesville men are behind the enterprise.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

A report is current in Chicago that Marshal Field's buyers had been instructed to stop buying goods for the present on account of wide spread labor troubles. Mr. Field was interviewed and made the following statement:

"We feel if this agitation continues that labor will be out of employment for the reason that the employer is now paying as much for labor as it is possible for him to pay and live. We are obliged to look far into the future, since we import our goods from all over the world, and make large contracts in advance, even in this country; therefore under present disturbed conditions we are necessarily more conservative."

"The prosperity we are now enjoying will not continue unless labor is willing to continue earnestly at work at the present high prices. These prices for labor must certainly go down as soon as there is any material let-up in business. Personally I have always been an advocate of good pay, short hours, steady employment and good faithful service, trying to keep all our employees thoroughly interested in the business. I have read the president's speech and have been much interested in that part of it in which the president warns us to enforce the laws of our country. In short he says that 'the supreme safety of our country is to be found in a fearless and honest administration of the laws of the land.' That, I am sure voices the sentiment of every good citizen of the United States. 'Certainly, the weakest point, in the government of the country today and the one that is destined to bring us the greatest trouble unless we have an immediate change, is the lax enforcement of law. The trouble is that young people of the land are growing up to have no respect for law and order, and why should they have when they are not made to respect it? There is nothing we need in this country, I repeat, as much respect for, and honest enforcement of the law as effecting every citizen, whether employer, or employee, and when the laws are found to be bad, they should be repealed. I know of my own knowledge that we would have had a much greater increase in manufacturing industries in Chicago during the last five years had it not been for labor troubles in Chicago. Why should manufacturers come here, when they can go elsewhere and have little trouble?"

When the fact is taken into account that Mr. Field employs 6,000 people in his Chicago store, and that he has buyers in every market in this or any other country, it may be possible to appreciate conditions from his point of view.

Mr. Field represents a class of business men who are obliged to look well into the future. Many of their goods are manufactured to order, and the demand is anticipated a year in advance. If trade conditions are disturbed on account of short crops a money panic or labor troubles, the demand for many lines of goods is weakened.

Chicago has been the storm center of labor disturbances for the past three months, and many industries have been paralyzed. Small factories by the score are leaving the city, and locating in smaller towns.

The Allis Chalmers company planned to spend $1,000,000 in enlarging their plant, but the work was abandoned on account of unsettled conditions. Contractors have been obliged to abandon work, because labor was so uncertain. These disturbances are occurring in times of prosperity when men are idle not from necessity, but because they voluntarily chose not to work.

This idleness means less money to spend, and it represents losses that are never made good. Hard times from natural causes always follow seasons of prosperity, and they are just as sure to occur as time is to advance. The part of wisdom is to work, when opportunity presents, and work was never more abundant than it is today.

PRACTICAL PROHIBITION

The El Paso Herald calls attention to the fact that an important United States naval station on Puget Sound is situated near the small town of Bremerton. Bremerton has of late acquired a reputation for being one of the toughest communities in the state, owing mainly to the giving up of the water front, and to drinking and gambling resorts of disreputable character, under protection and license by the town authorities. These resorts have grown largely upon the patronage of the employees of the navy yard, and of the jacks of the ships sent there for repairs.

A few weeks ago, the government authorities notified the town of Bremerton, that until the demoralizing influences were abated, the naval station would not be used any more, than absolutely necessary, the ships being sent to other yards. One cruiser was within a week ordered to lie in at San Francisco instead of going to Bremerton, as previously ordered.

Seeing that the government authorities meant business, the town authorities began to take counsel one with another. Seattle took a hand, owing to the jeopardy in which the prestige of the state was placed by the incident, and sent a committee of business men over to Bremerton, to talk a little wisdom into Bremerton's ruling class.

The result was that yesterday the following telegram was sent to Secretary Moody of the navy department at Washington:

"We, the Mayor and all members of the city council of Bremerton, do hereby agree that no licenses shall be issued for any saloon on streets leading from the town wharf to the navy yard, and that if navy department requests, no license shall be issued in the town of Bremerton, during our term of office."

That is prohibition, both practical and praiseworthy. The government declared existing conditions intolerable, and let the town choose between the great naval repair industry and her dives. Bremerton evidently saw the light, decided which was "good for the town," and offered to scrape the human barnacles off her badly fouled hull."

The railway and transportation companies refuse to hire men who drink, and this class of discipline is more effective than all the sentimental reform measures in existence. The Puget Sound city was not open to argument, except the kind presented by the government. This proved very effective.

The time is approaching when all employers of labor will insist on temperance as a necessary qualification. This means practical prohibition reform.

Mayor Wilson is sure that there is no city ordinance against good and respectable citizens from cutting the weeds in their yards if they wish to. Of course the mayor is not certain on this point, but still he thinks there will be no grand jury called if the weeds are cut and he is certain that the looks of the city would be improved.

When a woman turns off the gas, she should look and see that she doesn't turn it on again. You not only waste the gas, but you have a headache when you wake up, and if you do not wake up, your friends have to pay a doctor's bill and also an undertaker's account. So be sure you turn the gas off.

Russia may find that when the Khshneff murders are fully argued out that perhaps some of the St. Petersburg officials did know something of it. Never mind the results keep up your present bluff Russia, although no one believes you.

Even good old Wisconsin has its turn of lynching parties the same as our southern sister states. The only difference is that the sheriff in Wisconsin had more nerve than his southern brother and they did not lynch the murderer.

Now comes St. Louis' turn at the floods. Then it will go down the Mississippi towards the Gulf and we will have another week of horror and devastation.

New Fire Extinguisher.

An engineer named Max Eberhardt, gave at Munich a few days ago a demonstration of the effectiveness of a new preparation for extinguishing fires. The preparation is a liquid of milky color. The first experiment showed that the skin when painted with the liquid becomes insensible to heat. Rags saturated with petroleum can be turned upon the hand after it has been immersed in the liquid. Small fires can be extinguished with the hands, and with one puff of the liquid a fire in a pit of tar was put out in one second. The tar, even after petroleum had been poured over it, could not be again ignited, as the liquid formed a thin, unmeltable crust which completely shut out oxygen.—Consular report.

MYSTERY STILL DEEP AS EVER

INQUEST REVEALS NO NEW FACTS REGARDING ASSAULT.

DOCTORS TOLD OF WOUNDS

F. B. Farnsworth and J. B. Whiting Explain Cause of Death to Jurors This Morning.

No light was thrown on the mystery surrounding the assault and death of Herman Zimmerman by the inquest held this morning. The jury found "that the said Herman Zimmerman, deceased, came to his death at the city of Janesville, in said county of Rock, and state of Wisconsin, on the 3rd day of June, 1903, as the result of a blow inflicted on the evening of May 23, by a blunt instrument in the hands of a person unknown to this jury."

Jackson Conducted Inquest. This statement was signed by Jesse Earle, justice of the peace, and Louis A. Hemmens, F. L. Clemens, J. W. Brown, William Higgins, J. T. DeForest, and J. L. Bear, jurors. District Attorney W. A. Jackson, conducted the examination of the witnesses.

Three witnesses were examined—Chief Hogan, who identified the remains which the jury viewed at Kimball's undertaking rooms, and Drs. F. B. Farnsworth and Joe Whiting, who conducted an autopsy over the remains of the deceased. Dr. Farnsworth attended Zimmerman up to the time of his death, with the exception of two days when he was absent from the city.

Told Two Stories. Dr. Farnsworth told at length of the condition in which he found Zimmerman's wounds, from day to day and of the treatment he gave him. He was first called to attend the injured man at three o'clock on the morning of Sunday, May 24. Zimmerman was bedridden and there was the odor of liquor on his breath. He said that he had fallen and hurt his head, and that the accident occurred near the pump at the lower end of the courthouse park. Later he informed the doctor that he had made this statement because he did not wish his family to know that he had been assaulted, but that the latter was the case. Zimmerman was not sure that he had been shot.

Friday night of two weeks that Zimmerman was injured Dr. Farnsworth was called from the city. When he returned Monday morning he found his patient in a comatose condition which continued to the time of his death Wednesday evening. Previous to Friday Zimmerman had suffered from erysipelas of the face.

Cause of Death. Death resulted, said the doctor, from a compound depressed fracture of the skull with subsequent infection causing cerebral meningitis. Dr. Joe Whiting concurred in this opinion.

In the opinion of both medical gentlemen the appearance of the depression of the skull, over the left eye, as they had observed it at the autopsy which was held at District Attorney Jackson's request, last Thursday, indicated a blow from above by some instrument having a blunt edge. A bullet or a round object could not have caused it.

TICKET SALE TO BE OUT DOORS

Plans To Accommodate Crowd at High School Commencement Exercises—Only a Few Tickets.

Circus men have been copied in preparing to handle the audience which will clamor for entrance at the high school commencement exercises. Has fast been made of the attendant difficulty. No one who has not previously secured a ticket from some member of the graduating class will be permitted on that evening. On Tuesday and Thursday evening tickets will be on sale at little ticket vending stands along the sidewalks leading to the high school building.

In order to somewhat regulate the size of the crowd an admission price which is purely nominal has been determined upon—ten cents. The auditorium would be only too small to hold the audience if five times that amount were charged, but revenue is not the purpose in making the charge.

Every precaution will be taken to prevent any accident in handling the audience, which will necessarily be larger than can be easily accommodated. Uniformed guards will be present. No seats will be reserved except those for which tickets are given by members of the senior class. They have also tickets placed at their disposal. One hundred seats have been set aside for the alumni association. These may be secured at S. C. Burnham's.

THREE PICNICS IN TWO WEEKS

ODD FELLOWS, MACCABEES AND COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

FRATERNAL ORDERS' OUTINGS

Rockford, Lake Geneva and Milwaukee Are Scenes of These Excursions.

Three fraternal orders are planning for the coming two weeks, two of them being set for the present week. At Rockford this coming Thursday the Odd Fellows of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin will meet at Rockford, on Friday and Saturday the United Commercial Travelers will gather in their annual convention at Milwaukee, and on Saturday, June 20, the Knights of Maccabees will hold a picnic at Lake Geneva.

Maccabees First Picnic. The last picnic will be the first which the knights of Maccabees of southern Wisconsin have ever held. Addresses will be delivered by Supreme Commander D. P. Markey of Port Huron, Mich., Great Commander J. F. Downer of Chicago, Great Commander J. W. Brown of Stevens Point. Instructions will be given by Supreme Record Keeper G. J. Slegle of Port Huron, Mich., Great Record Keeper T. M. Dols, Chicago, and Great Finance Keeper A. S. Godard of Elgin. A cash prize will be given for the best drilled uniform rank team.

Odd Fellows on Thursday. At Rockford great preparations are being made for the Odd Fellows. An organization will probably be formed very similar to the plebe association of the Woodmen, and the picnic will be made a permanent annual feature. The program will be carried out at Harlem park, on the Rock river, above the city of Rockford. The assembly hall of the Chatauqua association will be used for this purpose. Among the other features are addresses by S. E. Erickson and Mattie Van Dusen of Chicago, W. G. Thwart of Milwaukee, M. P. Berry of Chatham, Ill., singing by a quartette, and a ball game between Rock Island and Rock Island.

Travellers at Milwaukee. The convention of the United Commercial Travelers at Milwaukee will extend from Friday through Saturday night. A banquet on one evening, followed by a dance, will be one of the attractions; the inevitable excursion to Whitefish bay and several other features have also been arranged. All this is additional to the business of the convention.

Uncanny Plants From Mexico.

The Institute Medico, of Mexico City, says the Mexican Herald, will send to the World's Fair an exhibit of about fifty medicinal plants of the country and the products derived therefrom. Accompanying the exhibit will be a complete explanation as to the place where the plants are found, the procedure for converting them into medicinal products and the ailments which they are destined to cure. Included in the exhibit will be a plant of marvelous quantities, it grows wild and abundantly in the state of Michoacan. The Indians claim that whenever they enter a wood or place where this plant grows, its aroma makes them lose their way and they are unable to return to their homes or to reach their destination until they cease to smell the plant. The statement is said to have been fully confirmed a number of times by learned people. The institute is going to make a scientific study of its physiological effects and an analysis of its properties. A delegate has been sent to Michoacan to obtain a specimen of the plant. It has been further added that a person wearing a branch of this peculiar plant in his buttonhole will often be lost in his native city, but the latter statement has not been confirmed. This plant will be an interesting exhibit at the Fair and if it is sent in large quantities and keeps it equalities in a foreign and distant land, the police of St. Louis will have many visitors to guide during the Exposition.

Gold Fever In Vermont.

The residents of several of the southern towns in Bennington and Windham counties, Vermont, have for several months been enjoying a severe attack of gold fever. Many of them have become convinced that they are living in a new California, and that untold wealth in mineral production can be found in the rocky hills.

Many persons who have bought claims have sent samples of their rock to Prof. Mason of the Hensseler Polytechnic Institute of Troy, says the Boston Herald. In every case his replies have been unfavorable, and he has done his best to encourage confidence in any profit from gold mining in Vermont.

In returning some of these samples to a party with a decidedly unfavorable report, the professor says: "There is no gold in paying quantities to be found in the New England states; and very little east of the Mississippi river. There are traces of gold in sufficient quantity to reward the worker everywhere, even in the backyards of Bennington, but there is no 'pay dirt' or gold in this part of the country. When I have warned some of your Vermont people who have brought specimens to me, that it would be better for them not to invest money in the hope of reward in gold mining, I have discovered by the long faces of some that the warning was too late and that the property had been purchased with the idea that it would prove to be a bonanza."

In the towns of Readsboro, Wilimington and others near by, thousands of dollars have been thrown away in the last eighteen months in wildcat mining enterprises.

and the figures given in the bulletin go far toward answering the query with a very strong affirmative. In seasons when blight and rot are very destructive, as they were in 1902 in nearly all parts of the state, there can be no question as to the profitability of the use of Bordeaux mixture. The results at Geneva showed this very plainly; for spraying seven times, at an expense of about $10 per acre, gave an increased yield of 123½ bushels of potatoes, and three sprayings increased the yield 93½ bushels. But growers generally think they cannot afford to pay the premium for disease insurance, through spraying since rot and blight do not come, destructively, very often. The results of the test on Long Island, though, indicate that even in sections seemingly free from disease, the spraying does more than enough good to repay its cost. Both early and late blight were absent from the experimental area near Riverhead, Long Island, yet here spraying seven times gave a gain of 45 bushels per acre, and spraying three times a gain of 72.3 bushels.

STANDARD SIZE OF CORN EARS.
According to the accepted rules for corn judging the proper length in inches of ears of seven of the leading varieties is as follows: Reid's Yellow Dent, 10; Golden Eagle, 9; Riley's Favorite, 9; Leaming, 10; Boone County White, 10; Silver Mine, 9; White Superior, 19. All of these should be seven inches in circumference except Boone County White, which should be 7.5. The proportion of corn to the whole ear should be, by weight, Reid's Yellow Dent, 88; Golden Eagle, 90; Riley's Favorite, 90; Leaming, 88; Boone County White, 86; Silver Mine, 90; White Superior, 88. With these figures our readers can do some experimental work in their own corn cribs if they wish to become familiar with the standards set.

Jackson Aroused by Much Shooting, but There Are No Arrests.

Jackson, Ky., June 8.—There was much firing in and about the town. The soldiers counted 163 shots. There is no town marshal since James Cockrell was killed and Sheriff Callahan makes no arrests. Judge Redwine reversed his order so that Curtis Jett and Thomas White occupy the same cell again. The prisoners had a long conference with their counsel. The Marcum people express no confidence in the trial. Elmer Jones arrived with sixty farmers from Magallon county, from whom the jury will be selected. They attended the battalion drill in the camp, visited the courthouse, jail, homes of Mrs. Marcum and B. J. Ewen and other places that are guarded. The friends of Cockrell have asked Gov. Beckham to have some other judge in place of Redwine on the bench during the trials.

THE CAUSE AND CURE OF DISEASE EXPLAINED

THE ONE CAUSE

Nature originates and destroys. The destructive process begins with the fermentation and decay of blood corpuscles.

The cause of this fermentation is from Bacteria or microbes in the system.

The fermentation does not take place without air, heat and moisture—for the germs or microbes are living organisms, that multiply in myriads with great rapidity.

These microbes when fully developed, colonize in great numbers and attack the various vital organs of the body by feeding on the tissues thus producing inflammation which is sickness.

If there were no microbes there would be no fermentation, hence there would be no sickness; life would continue indefinitely; suffering brought about by ill-health would cease and the processes of nature would stagnate. To this law man is no exception, and in it is the secret cause of all disease.

No sickness can come on without microbes in the blood.

THE UNIVERSAL CAUSE OF DISEASE IS MICROBES WHICH PILLAGE AND DESTROY.

THE ONE CURE

As the cause of all diseases is conclusively proven by every authority to be fermentation in the blood, produced by germs and microbes, common sense dictates that if the microbes were destroyed the cause would be removed.

The only known principle powerful enough to destroy the microbe in the blood, yet harmless as water to the tissues, was discovered by the learned scientist and microscopist, Prof. Wm. Radam. Its peculiar character is that of a true antiseptic and germicide, and its fame is world-wide under the name of "Radam's Microbe Killer."

It has withstood the most critical scientific examinations and is endorsed by every eminent medical authority.

As all disease originates from the same source, microbes; Radam's Microbe Killer prevents and cures EVERY DISEASE by destroying Bacteria the organic life that causes fermentation and decay of blood corpuscles. Kills the germs, and nature, through rich, red blood, kills the disease.

THE UNIVERSAL CURE FOR DISEASE IS TO KILL THE MICROBES WHICH PRODUCE IT.

DR. LINDLEY SAYS:

"No possible visitation of cholera can equal the death rate caused by diseased and imperfectly acting kidneys."

People die daily with so-called "heart disease," "apoplexy," "general debility," etc., when in reality it was of organic disease of the kidneys.

Few physicians and fewer people realize the extent of this terrible disease or its dangerous nature. The secret of freedom from this dreadful disease is the liberal use of Dr. Lindley's Golden Kidney Cure. It must be taken the moment any change from the standard of health is noticed, no matter where the affection seems to be located, and continued until every particle of impurity is removed and the kidneys are in a healthy condition. Dr. Lindley's Golden Kidney Cure is sold by most drug stores for 25 cents a bottle.

SHALL POTATO GROWERS SPRAY?
This is the question asked by Bulletin No. 221 of the station at Geneva;

...Forty Years Ago...

Jamesville Gazette, June 8, 1863.—The news of today is not of a startling character. The report of the evacuation of Fredericksburg and its occupation by our troops is contradicted. Large reinforcements are continually on their way to Vicksburg from the west. It is supposed that the rebels are also sending troops to the same locality.

The ironclad war steamer Galeana which has been commissioned only a year, and from which so much was expected, is going into dry dock at Philadelphia to be entirely overhauled, and, if possible, put into efficient condition.

From the Eight Regiment.—Camp of the 8th regiment volunteers in the siege of Vicksburg, May 24th. On the 19th we arrived here within a quarter of a mile of the enemy's works. Blair's division had charged upon during the day, and accomplished nothing more than to lose a large number of men. Day before yesterday there was another grand charge made all along the lines. In the first place a party went up to the works and placed 12-foot ladders against the breastworks, and they would not reach the top. The troops, instead of charging in the usual manner, had to charge by the right flank, and they could shoot them down for keeps.

Gen. Grant is a man about the size of Mr. Newell, a little taller and slightly stoop shouldered. He is slightly gray, and seems to be thinking all the time.

Gen. Sherman is a rather tall man, with a red nose, and appears to be a good fighting man, only a little hasty. He commands this army corps.

Personal.—Capt. W. A. Delamater, of the 29th regiment, arrived from Vicksburg today. He is wounded and is stopping at the Hyatt house, receiving surgical treatment.

Desertions From the Navy.

"The percentage of desertion in our navy is not greater than 1 1/2 per cent. It is not true that there are wholesale desertions from the United States navy. There are desertions, of course, but, judging from recent reports, the matter has been largely overdrawn and exaggerated. The actual percentage of desertions from the navy is not as great now as it was in 1891, 1892 and 1893. Statistics show that desertions were heaviest in those three years. It was never known why."

This is the statement of Surgeon Andrew M. Moore, United States navy, in the New Orleans Picayune.

"The recruiting service," continued Dr. Moore, "is now better systematized, better conducted and with better results than it ever was before. About 87 1/2 per cent of the recruits are American-born young men, which is most satisfactory, because for many years a large percentage of the naval recruits were of foreign birth. The recruiting office in Chicago which was established in 1897, has no trouble in securing all the recruits needed. Up to the last congress the navy required only 28,000 enlisted men and 7,500 marines. The last congress increased the enlistment 3,000. Altogether our navy at its full strength numbers 35,500 enlisted men of the various grades, including marines.

Many good recruits come from the interior. They are usually procured by writing letters to postmasters for the names of young men the postmaster thinks would like to see the naval service. When replies are received from these letters others of the same sort are mailed to the addresses furnished, and, in turn, other letters are sent out to these replies.

"Not only are the lists kept constantly full, but we are steadily raising the standard of enlistment. I think the percentage of desertion from the United States navy is much greater than from foreign navies, which is probably due to the fact that in our service better opportunities are offered for ambitious young men. The enlisted men of the navy see a great deal of the world, and American young men, being quick to see advantages, have greater temptations to desert than in European navies, for in any of those who would have few places to go in which he could better himself. Our men are better fed and better cared for than in any foreign navy. We have not so large a navy. England has probably 125,000 enlisted men, but we do not need so great a navy.

HORTICULTURE

TO CHECK THE MELON LOUSE

Every year great damage is done by the melon louse, which usually gets its work well started before it is interfered with. Preventive measures are the first to be looked to. They consist of cleaning up and burning the rubbish and weeds in and around the melon field, especially if that field has before been infested by the melon louse. The young vines should be examined every day for the first appearance of the lice, and the work of destroying them should begin as soon as they are found. Spraying with a tobacco decoction is one of the best remedies known, as it is generally effective and is not likely to injure the young plants. One method of making this decoction is to pour two gallons of hot water on one pound of good tobacco stems and allow it to stand all night. This may be applied either in a spray pump or by means of an ordinary sprinkling can with very finely-perforated "rose." Kerosene emulsion is sometimes used, but care must be taken not to have it strong enough to injure the leaves. When the lice are to be smoked, tobacco may be burned in a saucer or pan under a tub or a box over the vines. The box should be left over the plants for an hour or more, to insure killing of the insects. On the question of using carbon bisulphide, an experimenter at the Oklahoma station says: "Treating the melon louse with the fumes of carbon bisulphide (hokee pokee) is a comparatively simple operation, but has the disadvantage that unless it is done with care not to use too large a dose or expose the plants too long to it, it may injure the vines. Two tablespoonfuls poured into a saucer or a pan and placed beside the plant to evaporate, the whole to be covered immediately with a tight box pressed into the soil and allowed to remain in that position for an hour and a half, has been found to do the work of killing the insect. In making the test of this method before applying it to the field it will be well to see that the test is made with the temperature as high as it is likely to be in practice."

BERRY PICKING.

J. L. Herbst of Wisconsin tells of his methods of picking strawberries as follows: "In the morning the foreman starts the pickers, two in a row, or one, as the case demands it. As fast as they get their stands full they call their number and a tender goes and gets it, gives her check for same and brings it to the tables, which we have in the field. At each table stands a girl whose business is to put the boxes in crates. If in doing so she discovers berries in picker's stand No. 14 are soft, too green, or not picked properly, she reports the number of the stand to the foreman, who can remedy the trouble or let the picker go. The girl at the table puts the boxes in the cases properly and sees that all boxes are filled. As fast as the crates are filled they are drawn to the shipping house, and after another inspection, are nailed up and sent to their destination. We aim to get all fruit as quickly as possible to its destination, and never unless in case of accident, or late pickings, hold over night. The above system is used in both strawberries and cane fruits. The number of pickers taking a row of cane berries is placed at the head of the row, so in case the pickers finish and take another row, the foreman can tell who picked it, in case it is not done properly. We pay pickers 1 1/2 cents per quart while picking and if they remain throughout the season are paid another quarter of a cent for each box picked, making 1 3/4 cents a quart. In strawberries we try to get all one variety picked separately, or if two varieties are of about one color and shape, they are picked together. Light and dark sorts do not look well together in one box. We pick with a short stem and calyx as this gives the berry a much better appearance, and they stand shipping much better. Raspberries both red and black are picked in pint boxes, all others in quarts."

THE ONCE TREELESS PLAINS.

Man found great prairies in many of our western states, but he has largely obliterated them by planting trees. The largest naked areas are now found further to the west, in Nebraska and Kansas. In both of these states much tree planting is being done, and the next generation will have to look a long time to find a prairie such as the school books used to tell about. The United States Bureau of Forestry has begun work in Kansas and is studying the natural tree growths. The bureau will study the tendency of the trees and shrubs along the water courses to increase and spread, especially when protected from fire and stock, and will determine what species are best adapted to planting on those uplands that contain no natural growth. In many places along the streams where fire and stock have been excluded for ten or fifteen years are found thrifty young cottonwoods, white elms, box-elders, and other species which are slowly invading the great plains.

The "saddle" is the posterior part of the back, running to the tail in a cock and answering to the cushion in a hen, cushion, however, being restricted to a very considerable development, as in Cochins, while "saddle" may be applied to any breed.

Too Strenuous for Children.

Dr. Haecher (Munchener Med. Woch.) says that the method of hardening children by means of cold baths is not only unnecessary, but it is oftentimes injurious. It increases rather than diminishes their susceptibility to "colds," thus inducing coryza, throat affections, bronchitis and pneumonia.

MR. GRISCOM'S HAIR LIP.

Atrocious Pun Perpetrated by Nine-Year-Old Youngster.

Clement A. Griscom, the head of the International Navigation company, is not deformed in any way. Some years ago, however, when on a certain evening A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad company, announced to his family that Mr. Griscom would call to see them the next day, Robert Kelsa Cassatt, who was then a little fellow of eight or nine years, said:

"Mr. Griscom is that man with the hare lip, isn't he, father?"
"Why, no," Mr. Cassatt answered. "What makes you think Mr. Griscom has a hare lip?"

"I thought he had a whole lot of hair on his lip," said the boy.

Since Mr. Griscom's mustache is unusually luxuriant Mr. Cassatt was obliged to admit that his friend had, in that sense, a hair lip.—Minneapolis Journal.

In Venezuela many years ago a wealthy agriculturist was appointed minister of marine. Being a hard worker, he asked at once for particulars of the fleet. The secretary brought him particulars about the only warship. The details gave length, tonnage and horse power. "Take out these 120 horses at once and I will send you good mules in their places," explaining that mules were much more economical both as regards food and ability to withstand fatigue.

CUPOLA SKETCHES
By BYRON WILLIAMS

Once upon a time a pretty high school graduate in curl-paper frock and taffeta, asked the question, "Whither are we drifting?" The attorney general of California, who declares the use of the Bible in the public schools is unconstitutional, reminds us that we should again take soundings.

Somewhat we don't just like the able gentleman's decision. Our mother loved the Bible. The knowledge that it was termed unconstitutional in any public or private assembly, would have righteously shocked her sense of balance and justice, and while we have all due regard for the learned gentleman's opinion, we must respectfully insist that his ruler, from the standpoint of right, is tangled in the moss beds. We lay no claim to being "whiter than snow," and we appreciate the regrettable fact that we wobble sometimes when we should walk erect, but we don't like to hear that the Bible is unconstitutional anywhere under the canopy above us, and especially anywhere beneath the Stars and Stripes. Modern thought may be exemplified by the attorney general, but some of us are too old-fashioned to be up-to-date anyhow. Cowper says of the Good Book:

"A glory glides the sacred page,
Majestic like the sun,
It gives a light to every age,
It gives, but borrows none."

Pollock calls it a "most wondrous book." "The only star by which the bark of man can navigate the sea of life," and gain a haven of bliss and rest at last.

Shall it be unconstitutional to inculcate in the youth at school a love and knowledge of that star?
"Whither are we drifting?"

Ever and anon some one exclaims, "See the young man! This is his day and age!" So were the day and age of yesterday his. He was full of ginger then as he is percolated with hop tonic now. Roosevelt is young, to be sure, but over a century ago Charles James Fox was still calling his progenitor "papa," when he became Lord of the English Admiralty. He was then but twenty years old. William Pitt was scarcely old enough to go out nights alone when he became Premier of England. Prince Edward was at the feminine sweet sixteen when he fought the battle of Crecy, and at twenty-four he led the English army to victory. This is the age to-day when a young man is leaving school to take a position as billing clerk in a large sixteen-story building. And Mozart—at the age of sixteen was director of the Archbishop of Salzburg's orchestra. Where is there a president to-day at eighteen? And yet, David, the shepherd boy, was a king at that adolescent period in his life. Raphael, Cortez, Patrick Henry, Napoleon, Alexander, Keats, Burns and Byron were mere beginners at manhood when they reached the pinnacles of their fame. The young man of to-day must not be allowed to think he is any smarter or brighter or better than the young man of yesterday. Self-assumption and self-esteem are often bad for him. It is well to call his attention to the truth now and then. It keeps his ego down.

Authors who have been around the circle are wont to write of "Great Men I Have Known." Indeed the tendency has been to wear the great men faded threadbare. How would it do for some clever spinner to yarn about "cobblers I have known" or "blacksmiths of my youthful days?" This second suggestion does not refer to printorial blacksmiths, but the real sort as sung in "The Village Blacksmith." There are some characters in these trades worthy of perpetuation.

The season is fast approaching when the festive gentleman frog may be deceived by the red-flanneled hook and the tickle in it. You have seen the small boy operate on his pa's nose with a feather, said pa being asleep. Same way with a piece of red flannel and a bullfrog, except the frog never comes to and lambastes the boy.

Children in the country districts now the children are romping over the hills, plucking the anemone and the pasque flower. Soon the marsh marigolds will bloom in profusion, and the violets grow wild in the woodland. Spring poems have blossomed for weeks and vacations are budding and budding.

Physicians tell us we are in imminent danger of typhoid fever unless we boil the water. And now comes the mad-dog scourge. Must we boil the dog, too?

Is the mosquito eligible to that New Jersey suicide society?

Two Round Towers.
Scotland boasts of two round towers, said to be stragglers from the great typical group found in Ireland. The one is attached to the handsome and recently restored Cathedral of Brechin, and the other stands in the center of Abernethy, near the entrance gate to the churchyard. The Brechin tower, built in six irregular courses, and rising over 100 feet, is the most perfect of the two. It dates from Kenneth's reign, 971-83, and has a most graceful appearance. Pennant in his history speaks of having, in 1772, found handsome bells within its walls. These were afterwards removed, and now hang in a neighboring steeple. The origin of these towers is now somewhat doubtful, but archaeologists are generally agreed that they were built in connection with churches "for defense and faithfulness of watch" during the Norseman's raids. They were afterwards used as bellfries, the Brechin tower having done duty as such for generations. The tower is now one of the sights of the ancient town, and is regarded as a memorial of its early connection with Ireland.—Scottish-American.

A Medieval Megaphone.
A curiosity of great antiquity is still to be seen within St. Andrew's church, at Willoughton, near Gainsborough, says a Sunday magazine. This is a quaint speaking trumpet, with an obscure early history dating back to the times of the Knights Templar. In shape it resembles a French horn, and is more than five feet long, having a bell at the end of the graduated tube. It was formerly six feet in length, but is now telescoped at the joints where the metal has apparently decayed. Tradition declares it was formerly sounded from the tower to summon aid in case of need, as when blown at a height the weird, deep notes the trumpet produced could be heard at a great distance away in bygone days. It is believed that this curious instrument has often been used to call together the villagers, thus dispensing with the usual bell, and to give additional power and strength to the choir, being probably used by the chief singer, as the trumpet intensifies vocal sound to a marked degree.—St. James Gazette.

How the Pope Gets the News.
A New York priest, recently returned from Rome, tells how Pope Leo XIII. hears the news of the world every day without reading a newspaper. He reads a journal published in the Vatican, or has a secretary read it to him. This journal consists of brief abstracts of everything interesting which the papers published in Germany, England, France, America, and other lands have recorded. A large staff of secretaries, each one an adept linguist, prepares the Vatican's news sheet. One man translates and abstracts German articles, another works over the French papers, still another the English and American. The resulting publication in Italian is intended not only for his holiness, but for all the hundreds of Vatican attaches. Such news as would not be of interest to Vatican circles is overlooked in the resume.—N. Y. Times.

Stubborn Mathematician.
Once upon a time a woman entered a shoe store and asked the clerk in attendance for a pair of No. 4 shoes. The clerk, who was wise in his business, looked at her foot and at once brought to her a pair of No. 6 shoes. "These are the size," he said, as he fitted the shoes to her feet. "Yes," she answered, smiling with satisfaction, and a sale was made without any difficulty.

Cable to Honolulu.
Honolulu is getting nearer to the world. The last news she received was by the partially laid cable and the remainder of the way by steam-er. It won't be long before the citizen can sit at his breakfast table and read in his morning paper what New York had for dinner that same day.

Legacies to the Pope.
The pope has been happy in legacies. It has been reckoned that during his pontificate a sum of more than £1,000,000 has been bequeathed to him in various ways, $600,000 having come to him in one year, and one recent bequest being for no less than $200,000.—Indianapolis News.

The King's Coachman.
King Edward's coachman never knows where he is to drive until his majesty is actually seated in the carriage. This is a continuance of the rule which came into force when Queen Victoria ascended the throne.—N. Y. Sun.

First American Strike.
Three hundred shoemakers who struck for higher wages in Philadelphia in 1796 were the first workmen to adopt such tactics in this country. The first railroad strike occurred in 1877.—Indianapolis News.

Folton (in disgust)—Now! Didn't I find a pocketbook the other day and advertised for the owner—and found him. Pay? Not much!—Puck.

FACTS OF THE BIBLE

NUMBER OF LETTERS AND WORDS IS KNOWN.

Spaniard Long Confined in Prison Said to Have Been the First to Make the Tedious Count—Some Peculiar Facts of Interest.

It is well known that the number of letters, words, verses, etc., contained in the Bible have been counted, but by whom when or where, is not generally known. Treat's publication, entitled "Curiosities of the Bible," speaks of the occurrence as being of Spanish origin, and that the Prince of Granada, fearing usurpation, caused the arrest of the supposed would-be usurper, and by order of the Spanish crown he was thrown into an old prison called the place of skulls, situated in Madrid, where he was confined for thirty-three years, with no other companion than the rats, mice and other vermin that frequented his dismal cell.

During his confinement he counted the letters, etc., contained in the Bible, and scratched the several numbers on the stone walls with a nail. When his work was discovered he was furnished with writing utensils and ordered to make a copy of the results of his long and tedious task, and, on its being completed, he finally received his liberty.

The following is a correct copy of his great work:

The Bible contains 3,566,180 letters, 773,746 words, 31,173 verses, 1,135 chapters and 66 books.

The word "and" occurs 10,684 times, the word "Lord" 1,853 times, the word "Jehovah" 6,855 times, and the word "revere" but once, which is in the ninth verse of the One Hundred and Eleventh psalm.

The middle verse is the eighth verse of the One Hundred and Eighteenth psalm. The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet with the exception of the letter J.

The finest chapter to read is the twenty-sixth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles. The most beautiful chapter is the Twenty-third psalm. The nineteenth chapter of II. Kings and the thirty-seventh chapter of Isaiah are alike.

The four most inspiring promises are to be found in the sixth chapter of St. John, thirty-seventh verse, and fourteenth chapter, second verse; also eleventh chapter of St. Matthew, twenty-eighth verse, and the Thirty-Seventh psalm, fourth verse.

The longest verse is the ninth verse, eighth chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the thirty-fifth verse, eleventh chapter of St. John.

There are ten chapters in the book of Esther in which the words "Lord" and "God" do not occur. The eighth, fifteenth, twenty-first and thirty-first verses of the One Hundred and Seventh psalm are alike. Each verse of the One Hundred and Thirty-Sixth psalm end alike. The One Hundred and Seventeenth psalm contains but two verses, the One Hundred and Nineteenth psalm contains 176 verses. There are no words or names of more than six syllables.

It has also been discovered by some person unknown that in Joel, third chapter, third verse, the word "girl" occurs, and in the eighth chapter of Zachariah, fifth verse, the word "girl's" is mentioned for the only time in the whole book.

The eighth chapter of Esther, ninth verse, contains fifty-two ts. The word "snow" appears twenty-four times in the Old Testament and three times in the New.—Boston Herald.

A Moonlit Plain.
How gently fall the moonrays on the plain!
Filling the semicircle of our sight
With the transforming grace of stain—
The lustrous fields in dim proportions
Gain, and vague and vast spreads out the prairie
And the ponds are pools of silver swimming
Soft is the touch of the translucent night
On the fence and farmhouse—nor is beauty vain!
For, lo! the garish day is full of sound,
As man goes forth amid the growing fields,
While here beneath the magic moon are found
Those silent forces that fall harvest yield.
By day man gains a little for his pains,
But through the night Eternal Being reigns.

Frog Skins for Bookbinding.
According to a California contemporary, a new and lucrative industry has sprung up, offering a wide scope for Indian capital. It appears that there is a great demand from a new quarter for frogs, which India could supply by the million. They are used in bookbinding, for it has been found that the frog's skin makes a very fine, soft leather, and in dyeing it will take the most delicate shades. Hence it is in-laid in the calf or crushed levant of sumptuous book covers, and it makes a very striking and beautiful decoration.

Weak on Biblical Quotations.
On the last legislative day in the House several Congressmen quoted scripture while making short speeches, some of them displaying woeful lack of accuracy. Mr. Vandiver of Missouri commented on these misquotations, and by the way of burlesque recalled this alleged extract: "And the cow and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall lie down together, and the lion shall eat straw like an ox." Prolonged laughter and the fall of the hammer cut Mr. Vandiver off from further eluc-dation.

The Saloons of London.
London has a saloon for every 446 inhabitants.

MORMONS AIM TO HOLD YOUTHS TO THE FAITH

Propose to Raise Fund to Induce Younger Members to Attend the Church Schools.

Logan, Utah, June 8.—A movement on the part of the mormon church against the public schools, state agricultural college, normal school and university, has come to light. The church has established a fund for the purpose of offering inducements to young mormons to attend the church schools in preference to the public institutions of learning. It is hoped to accomplish this end by offering scholarships in the leading universities of the world, to be given only to graduates of church schools.

In these mormon institutions, the theology of Joseph Smith is one of the principal studies taught. The idea is to fix the youths firmly in the faith before allowing them to get a broader education and then to equip them thoroughly for aiding the church in its many battles. The announcement was made by Dr. J. M. Tanner, the superintendent of church schools. It was in an address to alumni of the Brigham Young college of this city, one of the mormon institutions. The church has given $1,000 as a nucleus for the fund and has called on wealthy members to increase it.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR MURDERER

Nebraska Cattleman Found Guilty of Killing a Rival at Tyrone.

North Platte, Neb., June 8.—The end of a long and exciting murder trial at the town of Tyrone came, when James Robinson was found guilty of the murder of Elmer Thayers and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The two men were rival foremen on cattle ranches and the trouble between them had its beginning in litigation over the control of a cattle company.

WATERSPOUT STRIKES TRAIN

Passengers on Seaside Railway Are Drenched and Terrified.

New York, June 8.—A column of water, which witnesses describe as a waterspout and towering high in the air, struck a crowded elevated train as it was crossing the Jamaica bay trestle near Rockaway. The water fell on the third and fourth cars, flooding the platforms and sending a torrent of water into the cars. Fifty people were drenched to the skin and all badly frightened.

WYATT'S VICTIM IS NOT DEAD

Man for Shooting Whom Negro Was Lynched Still Lives.

Bellefonte, Ill., June 8.—County Superintendent of Schools Hertel, who was shot Saturday night by the negro teacher Wyatt, who was later lynched by a mob, is still alive, contrary to all expectations. The ball entered his right breast near the nipple and ranged upward. He is unable to use his right arm, but is resting well, although the ball is still in his body. State's Attorney Farmer will make every effort to fix the responsibility of the lynching upon the leaders. Wyatt was a graduate of the University of Michigan and was not refused a teacher's certificate because of lack of knowledge, but because charges of immorality had been preferred against him.

Vessel Master Is Killed.

Ashtabula, O., June 8.—Capt. J. C. Reimers of Cleveland, master of the barge Chattanooga, was run down and instantly killed by a train here. Deceased was one of the best known vessel masters on the great lakes.

Ingersoll's Nephew Dies.

Colon, Colombia, June 8.—J. C. Ingersoll of Illinois, United States consul at Cartagena, who was on his way to New York, died here from dysentery. Mr. Ingersoll was a nephew of the late Robert G. Ingersoll.
